Dear Scottish Youth Parliament,

I am writing to thank you for participating in the evaluation of a RIGHT blether undertaken by York Consulting. We understand that your time and that of the young people is at a premium and we are immensely grateful for your involvement. We would like to stress that feedback from the evaluation is very valuable to us and will inform the future development of consultations with children and young people.

York Consulting has informed us that the conduct and contribution from the young people was first-class and a credit to the organisation. We hope that the young people involved appreciated the opportunity to tell us what went well and what could have been done better.

Thank you for taking the time to provide us with valuable feedback.

Best wishes,
